

EXCEED EXPECTATIONS IN ROOT CANAL THERAPY: TECHNOLOGY INTEGRATION FOR A PREDICTABLE, PROFITABLE, AND PATIENT-CENTRIC PRACTICE

INTENDED AUDIENCE

Endodontists interested in learning about new technology including the GentleWave® System.

COURSE OVERVIEW

As new technology emerges in dentistry, questions arise for the modern endodontist: what kind of impact would this technology have on my patients, my team, and my practice? This course will answer these questions and help you gain an understanding of the latest peer-proven technologies in the endodontic space today. Hear from clinicians who have leveraged technology to impact the patient experience, create a more predictable root canal procedure, and maximize profitability for their practice – without adding unnecessary complexity to their routine.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- › Examine the GentleWave System Mechanism of Action and the science behind its safety
- › Discuss opportunities for creating a more predictable and simplified workflow through use of technological advances such as the GentleWave System
- › Review the return on investment and related practice management techniques with the GentleWave System, to include scheduling, billing, and marketing
- › Apply learnings in a hands-on clinical lab with instructor oversight

COURSE INSTRUCTORS

Adam Davis
DDS, MSD

Dr. Adam Davis attended the University of Tennessee College of Dentistry, graduating in 2001. He spent five years serving as a general dentist in the US Navy. After fulfilling his active duty commitment, Dr. Davis entered the Endodontic Residency Program at Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond, Virginia. He received his Certificate in Endodontics in June of 2008. In July 2008, Dr. Davis opened Cumberland Endodontics with the goal of providing residents in the Greater Nashville area with the finest endodontic care available. Cumberland Endodontics has since expanded to three locations as well as added additional doctors to the practice.

Jonathan Uhles
DDS, MDS

Dr. Jonathan Uhles is a partner in a multi-location endodontic practice outside Nashville, Tennessee. He received his DDS, endodontic certificate and MDS from UTHSC College of Dentistry in 2011 and 2014, respectively. His research on PIPS irrigation was published in the Journal of Endodontics, and he was the winner of the 2014 AAE/Dentsply Poster Session. Dr. Uhles has received numerous awards, including the prestigious Dr. John T. McSpadden Spirit of Service Award. In his free time, he enjoys teaching and mentoring other clinicians, traveling and spending time with his friends, family and three dogs.
